

Meet the Teacher

Welcome

-Mr. Magers

I want to welcome you to this school year. My name is Patrick Magers and I will be your child's teacher for this thrilling third grade year. We will be doing some exciting things and I just can't wait to get started. If you have any questions, please don't hesitate to ask. I look forward to working with you and your child to help them succeed this year.

About Me

Growing Up

I was born in Hawaii. My dad was in the Navy so we moved around a lot. I also lived in Colorado, California, Arkansas, and Germany before moving to South Carolina in High School after my father retired. It was at Fort Dorchester High School where I took a class called Teacher Cadet and started working at a local gymnastics center, Rolly Pollies, where I fell in love with teaching.

Education

I went to College of Charleston as a Teaching Fellow and graduated Magna Cum Laude with a degree in Early Childhood Education. I received an endorsement to teach Gifted and Talented students through coursework at Converse College. I am currently attending CSU, working toward my administration degree.

My Family

My wife, Shelby, and I married in 2014 and we welcomed our first child, Anderson, in March 2017. His name is Anderson and he is just wonderful. My wife works for a theater company in Mt. Pleasant, working with children from 2-17, putting on shows for kids, by kids. We also have two adorable hound dogs named Todd and Tucker.

My Favorites

Food: Pizza

Drink: Coke

Candy: Take 5 and Gummy Bears

Restaurant: Breck's

Hobby: DIY Around the House, watching movies

Store: Target or Home Depot
